CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY (CSR POLICY)

INTRODUCTION

Business is an integral part of the economy as well as of the society. It helps in the growth of the economy of every country. Whenever any business is done for only earning profit, it is termed as profiteering which is not healthy either for the long term business growth of the business entity or for the Society. In the pre-independence era the East India Company had maximized its profit and has done little for the Society. Their only motto was to drain the resources of the Country and by doing so they had ruined our country. Because they knew that longevity was not predictable. Accordingly, they had tried to maximize the profit for the business done in the Country. But durability of business is sustainable when business entity recognizes and extends support to the Society for their wellness. In view of the these factors and assuming responsibility towards society and economy, every businesses entity should work towards achieving in growth of per capita income, employment as well assuming generous approach towards achieving social goals like education, health, sanitation, clean & pollution-free environment to enable the people to deliver their best. These activities are collectively terms as “CSR Activities”.

Besides, the Companies Act, 2013 has made it mandatory for profit making Companies to constitute the CSR Committee and spend at least 2% of its average net profit during the 3 immediate preceding financial years (block of 3 years).. Accordingly, the Company has decided to carry out programmes, projects and activities (collectively known as "CSR Activities") in this regard as the subject matter of this Policy, as specified in the Companies Act, 2013 and Rules relating thereto.
